Job description

Designer/Front End Developer
Part-Time

Job summary

Hiring during a pandemic? Yup! We are seeking a collaborative, creative, energetic designer who can hit the ground running in a flexible and exciting work environment. Pica, an award-winning brand strategy and design agency located in downtown Belfast, Maine, is looking for one or more additions to our friendly creative team.

We are interested in candidates with three or more years of professional experience. We offer flexible scheduling and hours (10-30 hours a week) and the option to work remotely. (All work can be remote during the pandemic; afterward, candidates should be able to be at our Midcoast offices on an as-needed basis; preference given to candidates located within a 3 hour drive.) This is a great opportunity to supplement your “gig economy” jobs with steady work and interaction with a close-knit team of colleagues.

We seek a front-end web designer/developer with experience in WordPress themed sites who is also skilled at print and digital graphic design and layout work. Bonus points for folks with HTML5, CSS, Javascript and PHP experience.

Your approach should be sophisticated, playful, innovative and versatile. Working at Pica means juggling a variety of tasks every day, all of which must meet the needs of our diverse client base of nonprofits and businesses with whom we build meaningful, long-term relationships. Therefore, ideal candidates will be responsive, organized, personable, thoughtful and open to challenges. We are especially eager to meet proactive problem solvers and people who care deeply about making the world a better place through design. We are an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to an inclusive workspace and encourage those underrepresented in the field to apply. We offer paid vacation time, a supportive, fun work environment and other benefits.
